

Sorrel Muggridge:

Sorrel studied Contemporary Arts at Nottingham Trent. She has an interdisciplinary art practice, making performance, installations, public art projects and curating exhibitions. Often site-specific, her work is devised in response to the location examining links between humans and the landscape, the reciprocal pressures and influences, and the exchange that is constantly occurring. She is currently based in Nottingham, England.

Notes from the podcast interview by Andrew Stuck in Bunhill Row cemetery in the City of London: Interviewed June 2008 and published November, 2008 on <http://talkingwalking.net>
