

Martin Kohler:

In this interview, recorded over the Internet, Martin Kohler, a professor in urban planning at HafenCity University in Hamburg talks about the Harbour Safari – part guided walk, part exploration of a lost quarter of the city, part art intervention.

Notes from the podcast interview by Andrew Stuck of Martin Kohler: interviewed December 2008 over the Internet using Skype to an landline and published October 2009 on <http://talkingwalking.net>

HAFENSAFARI (in German): <http://www.hafensafari.de/>

Information to the urban development vision of Hamburg “Leap across the Elbe”

<http://www.hamburg.de/contentblob/135216/data/sprung-elbe.pdf>

What HafenCity may look like one day:

<http://www.hafencity.com/>

Hamburg’s heritage harbourfront:

http://www.waterfrontcommunitiesproject.org/downloads/coolsea_hamburg_2.pdf

News item around the Hamburg Harbour Redevelopment:

<http://www.bdonline.co.uk/story.asp?storycode=3104747>

Lefebvre: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Henri_Lefebvre

Joseph Beuys: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Joseph_Beuys