

Peter Tombrowski

Peter Tombrowski is an independent film maker from Calgary in Canada, whose family has lived without a car in one of North America's most car dependent cities. Earlier this year, his documentary entitled Car Less in Calgary became available on the Internet.

Peter and his wife, Andrea Tombrowski, wrote and published "Urban Camping: A Testament to Living Without a Vehicle" in 2006. You may purchase an eBook at www.amazon.com, www.barnesandnoble.com and other mainstream eBook sellers. Copies of the soft cover book are also available from the authors at www.urbancamping.ca.

Notes from Peter Tombrowski's 5 year walking forecast for Talking Walking: Recorded over the telephone in August 2013 and published in November 2013 on <http://www.talkingwalking.net/5-year-walking-forecast/peter-tombrowski-walking-5-years-from-now/> 5'06" 2.4MB

To mark the fifth anniversary of Talking Walking, we asked thought leaders to make their 5 year predictions about the state of walking in the fields in which they work and the places where they live. Respondents were asked to call a Skype number to leave their forecast, identifying who they were, what work they were doing that revolved around walking, and what their forecast was for walking in the next five years. We recorded these voice messages and reproduce them here: <http://www.talkingwalking.net/5-year-walking-forecast/>

Links to further information on topics mentioned:

Find out more about Car Less in Calgary: www.vimeo.com/ondemand/carlessincalgary

Peter created a short film called "To Costco and IKEA Without a Car" which screened at the prestigious Hot Docs Canadian International Documentary Film Festival in 2007: View it here: <http://vimeo.com/20250300>

You can hear an interview recorded with Peter in 2008 here: <http://www.talkingwalking.net/peter-tombrowski-talking-walking/>