

Henry Mellor

Henry Mellor a former social worker and now a Makaton tutor, helping parents and carers to improve the communication skills of children with learning disabilities. Henry owns two poodles that he takes on regular walks. Should the Revenue & Customs work in tandem with mobile phone companies to offer people the opportunity of having their journeys on foot and by bicycle tracked and verified, Henry's forecast is that if people could be rewarded tax credits for reducing their carbon footprint, then many of us would walk more.

Notes from Henry Mellor's 5 year walking forecast for Talking Walking: Recorded over the telephone in November 2013 and published in December 2013 on <http://talkingwalking.net>

To mark the fifth anniversary of Talking Walking, we asked thought leaders to make their 5 year predictions about the state of walking in the fields in which they work and the places where they live. Respondents were asked to call a Skype number to leave their forecast, identifying who they were, what work they were doing that revolved around walking, and what their forecast was for walking in the next five years. We recorded these voice messages and reproduce them here: <http://www.talkingwalking.net/5-year-walking-forecast/>

Links to further information on topics mentioned:

Find out more about Henry's work as a Makaton tutor: <http://www.makatontutor.co.uk/>

Her Majesty's Revenue & Customs: <http://www.hmrc.gov.uk/>

Carbon footprints: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Carbon_footprint